All About Me

Colored Pencil and Crayon

I got the idea for my self-portrait by thinking about what I really like and drawing them around me to show who I am and what I like to do. I wanted people to know that there are a lot of things that I like to do like baseball, drawing, playing music, building Lego, and playing with Nerf guns. The hardest part about creating the image was remembering what I look like without using a mirror. I tried to imagine my face and body and then draw myself. I solved the problem by looking at a photo of myself and using it to help me draw my face and body. I really like the idea that the image creates. It shows that I am creative and have many interests. My parents and my friends influenced my work by encouraging me to draw.
