

Portfolio Preparation Guidelines

A Program of the New York State Art Teachers Association

HSI PROFICIENT LEVEL

PROCESS ARTIFACTS

make thinking visible show where ideas began and how they evolved demonstrate practice, experimentation, revision document feedback

refer to exemplar artist(s) ideas and artistic work

The HSI Level Portfolio is designed for students taking a foundation level course that meets the high school required unit of credit in the arts. Foundation level courses are broad in content and media, and designed to meet all 11 arts standards at the HSI level. Depending on local district offerings, students enrolled in Studio in Art, Studio in Media Arts, Creative Crafts, Design and Drawing for Production, or a locally designated prerequisite art course may participate at this level. Students should demonstrate development and refinement of ideas and skills, exploration of new mediums including digital media, and the development of artistic interpretation.

Process artifacts enable students to focus on metacognition—thinking about how their exploration and experimentation informs their artistic action. Students should document steps they take, from ideation through the completion of artistic work(s). They should record responses to artworks they see and experience, as well as connections between their own work and the work of artists and ideas across time periods, cultures, arts disciplines, and in the broader school curriculum.

OVERVIEW of PORTFOLIO CONTENT

The HSI Proficient Level Portfolio must include the following required components. Sample checklists and presentation resources are provided in the support documents packet.

All components require process artifacts. Examples of such artifacts can be found on page 2. Each component is a collection of artifacts that together represent the development of ideas into fully elaborated work(s). Artifacts should relate to Standards and Performance Indicators from the NYS Learning Standards for the Arts.

Component 1: Personal Identity

Portray a sense of self through relating and synthesizing personal knowledge and experiences to inspire and inform artistic work.

A wide range of responses, from the highly representational to the abstract or metaphorical, is expected.

Component 2: Social/Cultural/ Political/Historical Connection

Investigate ways that artistic work is influenced by societal, cultural, and historical context and, how artistic ideas shape cultures past, present, and future. Students may use original source documents as well as web links and print resources as artifacts, (please cite sources).

Component 3: Artistic Response

Respond to and interpret artists' work(s). Include interpretations of artist(s)' work(s), supported by relevant evidence found within the work and surrounding context(s).

Ideally, this component should relate to and enhance another component within the portfolio, as response plays an important role in the development of one's own artistic voice.

Component 4: Student Choice

Generate and develop personally meaningful/relevant work. Include additional work(s) that best represent individual ideas and artistic exploration.

Presenting

Select and organize artwork, speak with clarity about process and work, show understanding of others' point(s) of view, and engage with an audience. Presenting is scored across all components.

PROCESS ARTIFACTS RESOURCE GUIDE

Portfolio Project 2.0 emphasizes process, documentation, and diving deeper into the artistic work you create and present. The presentation of your portfolio is an opportunity to bring your adjudicator on a personal artistic journey through your process rather than depending on only the final product to show achievement.

Build your portfolio with process artifacts as well as completed works. Process artifacts may include, but are not limited to, the following suggestions. There is no minimum or maximum number of artifacts required. Consider process artifacts from multiple categories and enough to fully communicate the evolution of ideas and work within each component. As each artist is their own person with their own journey, you may have artifacts that are unique to your process.

Creating Cr1

Pre-Work/Planning Inspiration/Ideation

Writing

problem statement artist or work statements

Brainstorming

lists, mind-maps, sketches, storyboards, word associations, problem solving

Research/References

photos, artist images, book citations, websites

Sketches

thumbnails, first drafts

Creating Cr2

In-Process Work Feedback/Revision

Documentation

drafts, photos, pre-projects, checklists, screenshots

Experimentation

media use, studies, tutorials, practice work, color swatches

Extended Research

resources to push ideas/skills

Mistakes

failed work, evidence of growth, risk-taking, persistence

Innovations

discoveries, new techniques

Creating Cr3

Final Work Fully Resolved

Artistic Work

physical and/or digital artwork, photos, videos

Use of Feedback

documentation of changes made to resolve challenges

Digital Presentation

slide deck, recorded animation

Presenting Pr4-5-6

Selection and Presentation of Work

Selection of Works purposeful, suitable to selection description, artifacts support final work

Presentation Mode

matting/display, location, collection, spacing

Presentation Details

physical/digital presentation or installation

Interpretation

intended purpose, audience, relationship among works

Responding Re7-8-9

Understanding Artist(s)' Ideas and Work

Artist Works

collection of images for inspiration annotations about personal responses/ideas

Research

documented research about artist and ideas

Interpretation

notes about symbolism, meaning, ideas, context for selected works

Connecting Cn10-11

Reflection, Connection to Self and World

Reflection

reflective writing, journaling, artist or work statements

Critique

feedback, impact statement

Connection to Self ideas from personal experience Connection to External World social, political, historical, cross-curricular ideas

Connection Among Works

pre-cursor or progression for series of works

COMPONENT 1–PERSONAL IDENTITYEXPRESS

compare external to internal reveal personality, goals, dreams, fears tell a personal story with your artistic work

show thinking, planning, decision-making support ideas through materials, techniques, color

This component focuses on communication skills, as the student artist is encouraged to portray a sense of self for the viewer. It is the visual extension of an artist statement, offering the student opportunities for self-awareness and self-assessment in terms of artistic ability and personal growth. A wide range of responses, from the highly representational to the abstract or metaphorical, is acceptable. This component relates to the Standard, Connecting 10: Relate and synthesize knowledge and personal experiences to inspire and inform artistic work.

Student Preparation

- Consider what you wish to communicate to the viewer about yourself/ your experiences (artistic intent).
- Plan how communication of self can be best carried out.
- Select materials and techniques that will work best for this artwork.
- Create a work of art that provides insight into who you are as an individual with experiences, hopes, dreams, fears, etc.
- Consider how the selected identity connects with others.
- Document thinking and process as you progress with your work.

COMPONENT 2–SOCIAL/CULTURAL/POLITICAL/HISTORICAL CONNECTION*RESEARCH

informs a deeper understanding of the topic inspires artistic approach, use of materials, color palette, mark-making connects artwork to other people(s), generations, places,

time periods helps artists show a particular viewpoint or persuade others to act

This component allows students to apply the Standard, Connecting 11: Investigate ways that artistic work is influenced by societal, cultural, and historical context and, in turn, how artistic ideas shape cultures past, present, and future. It is designed for students to research an area of interest within society, a culture, or history, and to respond to this learning with their own artwork. Students may draw inspiration or ideas from other areas of the school curriculum, current events, or other topics that ignite their own interest and passion. Students are encouraged to use original source documents as well as digital and print resources in their research as artifacts. Please cite sources.

Student Preparation

- Research a topic that relates to social, cultural, political, or historical ideas that interest or affect you. Consider issues that ignite your passion or topics of interest from other areas of study outside the arts.
- Investigate how artists past and present have responded to the selected topic.
- Develop artistic work based on your selected idea and inspiration from your research.
- Select media and techniques that best convey your ideas and/or demonstrate the influence of your research.
- Document how your research influences the decisions you make during the creation of the work.

COMPONENT 3—ARTISTIC RESPONSEINTERPRET observe and analyze with a critical lens gather relevant information and context understand the work of others through inferences make interpretations based on evidence connect your work(s) to those of other artists, art movements, time periods

This component focuses on the Standard, Responding 8: Construct interpretations of artwork, supported by relevant and sufficient evidence found both in the work and in surrounding contexts. Responding is ideally used to enhance and support other components within the portfolio (i.e., utilizing a work you researched to support your own artmaking decisions). Your Response Component may take the form of image(s) and notes on a sketchbook page, formal written analysis, slide show, or other format of your choice (see Process Artifacts Resource Guide page 2 for more suggestions). An OPTIONAL graphic organizer is available as a way to organize your response; it provides ideas for possible structure for recording perceptions and context information about the artwork being investigated. The OPTIONAL organizer for the Artistic Response can be found in the Support Documents pack provided as soon as your Portfolio Project registration has been submitted by your teacher.

Student Preparation

Select a format to represent your artistic response. The response should:

- Provide factual information about the piece you are referencing.
- Explain how the work elicited personal impressions or reactions.
- Include direct observations (subject matter) and analysis of how the work is organized (form and structure).
- Reveal research, context, and/or relevant background information.
- Demonstrate inferences, interpretations, and connections.

COMPONENT 4—STUDENT CHOICECONSIDER show achievement of standards not evident in other selections

build a work off another piece in the portfolio include a work that has special meaning to you show more about your personal interests

This component gives students the opportunity to include additional artworks that best represent themselves as artists and reflect their interests, experimentation, exploration, and skill development. This requirement is intended to foster initiative, critical thinking, problem solving, creativity, innovation, adaptability, and communication skills. This component relates to the Standard, Creating 2: Generate and develop artistic work in a self-directed manner.

Student Preparation

Select additional artistic work(s) that represent your interests and artistic skills. The selected work(s) should:

- Represent an artistic problem posed and addressed.
- Highlight process and provide insight into creative problem solving.
- Feature risk taking and multiple approaches.
- Show purposeful use of form and structure (design principles/ composition strategies) to support the message of the work.
- Demonstrate proficiency with materials and techniques.

DEMONSTRATE

organize work and practice presenting show accomplishment through visual, written, and oral presentation use art vocabulary to discuss your work

refer to artists that inspire and/or provoke make connections with life, context, fears, interests, ambitions, curiosity

Presenting is scored across all 4 components of the portfolio. Resources are provided to help with organization of artistic work and process artifacts as well as notes for speaking. Students should be able to use content vocabulary to express thoughts and opinions, speak articulately about their process and artistic work, understand multiple points of view, and engage with their audience. Students will still be assessed on their ability to create, organize, and present their portfolio, as outlined in the Standard, Presenting 4: Analyze, select, and critique personal artwork for a collection or portfolio presentation.

Student Preparation

1. Include all REQUIRED components:

- Personal Identity Component
- Social/Cultural/Political/Historical Connection
- Artistic Response Component
- Student Choice

2. Include REQUIRED Portfolio Presentation Resources:

- Portfolio Components Inventory
- Signed Artistic Integrity Agreement
- Learning Standards Inventory

3. Follow all guidelines for assembling the portfolio, making sure that the selections and process artifacts meet the criteria for each component:

- Prepare and organize work for ease of presentation.
- Make thoughtful connections among portions of components and to the NYS Visual Arts Standards.
- Use visual, written, oral and/or other communication means to present the portfolio to the adjudicator, calling attention to artifacts as needed to convey intentions, ideas, and learning.
- Consider using OPTIONAL labels from the Resources Packet for tagging final products and process artifacts to facilitate discussion points during the adjudication.

4. TEACHERS must register students by the adjudication registration deadline in their region. Visit www.nysata.org/portfolio-project for more information.